

Callicarpa dichotoma

Purple Beautyberry (page 1 of 2)

Showy pink flowers are held in axillary cymes. The perfect flowers are tubular with four lobes and have stamens that extend out beyond the petals.

© Sharon Yiesla

The fruit are small drupes with an unusual violet color.

© Sharon Yiesla

The opposite leaves are simple and elliptic to obovate. The margins are serrated above the middle of the leaf.

© Sharon Yiesla

Stems are scurfy. Buds are imbricate, small and light in color.

© Sharon Yiesla

Callicarpa dichotoma

Purple Beautyberry (page 1 of 2)

Form is often broad spreading with arching branches. Here is the whole shrub in fruit.

© Sharon Yiesla

Fall color is yellow.

© Sharon Yiesla